Unable to trace records for his marriage to Julia or his death.

Unable to trace any further records on Ann Elizabeth, available records 1838 - 1854 have been checked for death. There is a record for an Ann Elizabeth Bott marrying a Samuel Foster Newsom in Madras, India in 1852 which means she would have been fourteen if it's the same Ann.

Comments:

Julia's marriage to Robert occurred only two weeks after the death of her son William Breakey.

Robert's death looks likely to be in Bangalore December 1850, four weeks before the birth of his daughter. There is a record for a Robert 'Bound' (as transcribed) who dies in Bangalore on this date. Daughter Julia has been baptised not by E.I.C. army chaplain but by a 'Missionary' therefore not an army baptism.

Both James and Sophie die very young leaving Elizabeth an orphan and she is the Lizzie Angell who goes to live with Julia Ann Bond and is mentioned in the family letter.

Grandm. Julia Ann Bond was born in India the only child of the third marriage to a Mr. Bond. Her mother had gone to India as companion to the wife of a British Army Officer. The previous two husbands were Army men who were killed in skirmishes in India. I was told that Mr. Bond was well-connected!! and our Elizabeth was the only child of their son but both he and his wife died when Elizabeth was very young so she was brought up by her Grandparents, therefore Elizabeth Angell as we all knew her.

Her Grandparents were staying with our Grandparents and family one Xmas and they both died within a week of each other during the visit, so Elizabeth was left with our family. In those days daughters were kept at home to help run the household and she had to do the same when she left school at 11 as most children did then. Uncle Leonard & Stanley were very young and she was the one to look after them- doing most of the dirty work for the others. Angell by name & Angell by nature. Nursing everyone and pushing Grandma in the bathchair. I wonder she lived to be 87!! Reminds me of Upstairs Downstairs.
